

Round 1: 'Tis the Election Season

Resolved: No Labels' decision to run a third-party presidential bid is a boon to Trump.
This house regrets the 2002 Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act (BCRA).
This house believes that the two party system is net beneficial.

Round 2: Academia

Resolved: Contemporary literature is undervalued in academia.
This house believes that English is a relevant college degree.
This house believes that the current model of standardized testing in the US should be abolished.

Round 3: Potpourri 1

Resolved: The United States has gone the way of Panem.
This house believes that Pop Psychology is net beneficial for mental health.
Resolved: TikTok is running out of time.

Round 4: Unions

The USFG should pass stricter "Right to Organize" legislation.
Stronger unions lead to a stronger economy.
Trickle-down economics will save the economy.

Round 5: AI/Technology

Chat GPT is net beneficial for academics.
The AI bubble is looming.
You have waited two years and now you're finally at the show. Resolved, put down your phone and enjoy the experience.

Round 6: Potpourri 2

In journalism, truth seeking ought to be prioritized over informant safety.
Birth citizenship is an outdated concept.
THW significantly restricts military recruitment in impoverished areas.

Quarters: The World and Everything in it

Resolved: This house regrets China's admission into the WTO in 2001.
Resolved: The UNHRC does more harm than good.
Resolved: Africa is crypto's last best hope.

Semis

Resolved: The Doomsday Clock is unproductive.
Resolved: The US ought to give the Marshall Islands further compensation for WWII-era nuclear testing.
Resolved: This house believes nuclear weapons have a stabilizing impact on international relations.

Finals

Resolved: AI will eventually kill art.
Resolved: The US should institute a right to be forgotten (RTBF).
Resolved: X (formerly known as Twitter) does not mark the spot (the future) of the US communications industry.